The Tallis Choir of Toronto presents its Annual Christmas Concert with festive music from the 16th and 20th centuries.

Palestrina's dazzling 'Missa Hodie Christus' will be featured. Praetorius' spectacular 'Magnificat Super Ut Re Mi' receives its Canadian premiere.

Popular works by Handl and Redford will complement these major choral masterpieces.

The celebration continues with lyrical Christmas music by Howells, Lauridsen and Tavener.

Now in its 27th season, the Tallis Choir of Toronto is one of Canada's principal a cappella choral ensembles. Under the direction of Peter Mahon, the Choir is best known for its interpretation of Renaissance music and has presented the first Canadian performances of many rarely-heard masterpieces of the period. The Choir's repertoire reaches from Gregorian chant to 20th century repertoire, and it frequently enjoys the collaboration of distinguished artists and ensembles.
